Presentation of Identification

Summary/Purpose: To provide students notice of the responsibility to present University identification to authorized University personnel upon request.

Students at The University of Mississippi have the responsibility to present University identification to authorized University personnel upon request, including, but not limited to, University police officers and residence life staff.

Failure or refusal to present an identification card upon request to any University official may result in disciplinary action.

The University issues each student an identification card at the time of registration. This card is to be used to identify the recipient as a student of The University of Mississippi. Students may be asked to present their identification card in order to enter and/or participate in University sponsored events. This card is a valuable document and should be in the student’s possession at all times.

Any misuse of the identification card by its holder or the use or attempted use by another person may result in cancellation of privileges provided and disciplinary action. The loss or theft of a student’s identification card should be reported immediately to the I.D. Center. A substitute card will be issued (a fee may be charged for this service).
